NOTES: The foundation of Aim High is an intensive, engaging and challenging five-week summer school program for middle school students from low-income families. Students join after 5th or 6th grade, and participate for three or four consecutive summers. Students graduate from Aim High in the summer prior to their freshman year in high school. Aim High works in close partnership with the Golden Gate National Recreation Area (GGNRA), the Exploratorium, as well as partner schools, school districts, and universities. Middle school is a crucial juncture in making a difference in young people's lives and the purpose of Aim High is to reach students at this critical crossroads and propel them towards success in high school and college. Research has shown that sustained intervention during the middle school years goes a long way to keeping students engaged in their education, resulting in lower high school drop-out rates and higher rates of college matriculation. Learn more about our results and what makes Aim High so special. Aim High's summer school program operates a 5-week summer program, Monday through Friday, from 8am to 3pm. Key components and practices of the Aim High Summer Program design support our outcomes for youth:

WHO: Year Up Bay Area

WHAT: Recruiting for March 2015 class

WHERE: /WHEN: How you can help/get involved: If you have a group of young adults who would like to learn about Year Up, gather them and we'll come to you for a presentation. We can host you and prospective students at our San Francisco campus anytime that's convenient for you and them. We're located in downtown San Francisco at 80 Sutter Street, near the Montgomery BART and Muni stops. Visit our site at 80 Sutter Street on Wednesdays and Fridays at 11:30 am for an information session for prospective students. They will receive an in-depth program overview, hear from current students, and have all of their questions answered.

CONTACT: For more information: yearup.org/apply, call (415) 405-6562, or email sfbayadmissions@gmail.com . www.yearup.org/apply

NOTES: Year Up Bay Area is currently recruiting for our March 2015 class and we are encouraging prospective students to submit their applications by January 23rd in order to ensure completion before the program begins on March 3rd. While we serve the entire Bay Area, our goal is to enroll at least 20 students who currently reside or formerly resided in San Francisco's southeastern neighborhoods — Bayview-Hunters Point, Potrero Hill, Visitacion Valley, and the Excelsior — among the 120 students we will admit to our March 2015 class. To date, we have enrolled 11 residents of these communities; therefore we would greatly appreciate your assistance in connecting us with young adults in need of opportunity. Who are we looking for: young adults ages 18-24 who are highly motivated and have a high school diploma or GED? They may have some college or an associate degree, but are not eligible if they have attained a bachelor's degree. What we offer: five months of full-time professional training, a six-month corporate internship, college credits from Foothill College, an educational stipend of up to $1000 per month, and the opportunity to be a part of a caring, supportive community. Our most recent class of Year Up Bay Area graduates is earning an average starting wage of $22 an hour.

WHERE: <https://docs.google.com/a/bayviewmagic.org/forms/d/1hRpUsqZHP2OP-0JU030VF6xYSmn4Zv2BdDFp6L6Jc0/viewform>

WHEN: Sunday, April 12th, 2015

NOTES: As we're filing permits for the 2015 Sunday Streets events, we have to show we've got all of the resources to create eight successful events - that means money and volunteers. Last year 300 volunteers donated over 1,500 hours of their time to the program. This year, we've added more neighborhood outreach shifts and new event setup and breakdown shifts to make each event as smooth, safe, and pleasant as possible for participants and neighbors. We estimate we'll need at least 2,000 volunteer hours to reach that goal. Will you stand up for Sunday Streets? Sign the volunteer pledge below to help us demonstrate that thousands of people love Sunday Streets and are willing to help make it happen. Most volunteer shifts are just 2-3 hours long, and event volunteers get a free lunch! It takes hundreds of volunteers each year to make Sunday Streets safe and fun for everyone. How will you make sure Sunday Streets 2015 is a success?

WHAT: Building Relationships: An Online Support Group for Young Mothers

WHERE: Tiatros.com, a HIPAA-compliant web platform

WHEN: Monday, January 5, 2015 – Monday, February 23, 2015, Times: TBD

CONTACT: To refer yourself or someone you know for an initial intake, please contact Renè Fay at 415-446-9182 or email her at rfay@ahomewithin.org

NOTES: Parenting is a challenge for everyone, particularly for young mothers who have little support and are vulnerable to isolation. This can leave them with little time or energy to focus on their own needs. Our online parenting group can help young mothers get the professional support they need while building a community of peers. Recent research has demonstrated the effectiveness of online education and support for this group. Using a HIPAA compliant web-based platform to host meetings, we will draw on clinical practice to address the specific needs of young mothers. Starting in January, the group will be open to 10 mothers between the ages of 14 and 18.

CONTACT: City Youth Now, 375 Woodside Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94127, 415.753.7576, 415.682.0126 fax

NOTES: For over half a century, our mission has remained constant—City Youth Now supports youth in the San Francisco foster care and juvenile justice systems by providing funds for services and programs that promote stability and personal growth. City Youth Now, originally founded in 1950, is the first non-profit organization of its kind in the history of the United States' juvenile court system. City Youth now diligently works behind the scenes to address the unique needs of children and youth under the jurisdiction of the San Francisco Juvenile Court System. Probation officers, social workers, attorneys, and others come to us daily with requests for youth under their supervision. City Youth Now works to ensure that youth in the juvenile court system have the same positive youth development opportunities as other children to grow into mature and successful adults. The realities youth in the system face intensify every decade. The youth we serve come from low-income families, often with histories of child abuse and neglect, gun violence, incarceration, and/or substance abuse. The children come from all over San Francisco. They range in age from newborn to 18 years old, sometimes older for those youth who have recently emancipated from foster care. While they come from different communities around the city, the one thing they have in common is that they have each endured more than their share of trauma and hardship. Our hope is that by providing them with opportunities they might not otherwise have, they will have a better chance of breaking out of the cycle of violence and addiction that entraps so many of their peers and adult community members.

<http://www.publicwelfare.org/ApplyGrant/ExpenditureResponsibilityGrants.aspx>

NOTES: The Public Welfare Foundation is accepting Letters of Intent from organizations and programs working to end the criminalization and over-incarceration of youth in the United States. Through its Juvenile Justice program, the foundation awards grants to groups that are working to advance policy reforms that reduce youth incarceration rates in the juvenile justice system by, for example, limiting the use of incarceration, expanding the use of community-based alternatives to incarceration, reducing lengths of stay, and/or decriminalizing minor misbehaviors or otherwise diverting youth from the juvenile court system; ending the practice of trying, sentencing, and incarcerating youth as adults; and promoting fairer and more equitable treatment of youth of color by the juvenile justice system. Grant amounts are determined by the scope of the project. To be eligible, applicants must have tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Letters of Intent are accepted year round. Upon review, selected organizations will be invited to complete full proposals.
