NOTES: The EatSF Fruit and Vegetable Voucher Program is excited to announce a new project in partnership with Stanford University, CHIVES! The goal of this project is to evaluate the EatSF distribution model and see what works best to improve nutrition and healthy food access for low-income San Franciscans. We will be enrolling 300 new participants through August 2017 and want to spread the word about this opportunity as widely as possible! CHIVES is a healthy food voucher program where participants receive $20 in vouchers each month that can be redeemed at the same stores as the EatSF vouchers (<http://eatsfvoucher.org/>). Participants are randomly assigned to either receive green fruit and vegetable vouchers OR to receive orange vouchers that can be used to buy anything food item that is CalFresh-eligible. Participants must first complete an online screening survey to determine their eligibility for CHIVES. The survey can be found at this link: is.gd/chivesproject. Participants will need to attend a 1-time, in-person orientation session in the Bayview that explains the project in more detail. After that orientation session, the participant will receive their vouchers in the mail for 6 months. During the first and the last month of their participation in CHIVES, all participants will receive several phone calls from a dietician who will ask them questions about their diet over the last 24 hours.

WHO: Karma for Cara Foundation

WHAT: Applications for Youth Microgrants

WHEN: Deadline: July 1, 2017

CONTACT: Link to Complete RFP

NOTES: The Karma for Cara Foundation is a nonprofit founded by 21-year-old Cara Becker and her family while she was undergoing treatment for leukemia at the Johns Hopkins Kimmel Cancer Center. Cara and her two brothers began volunteering at a young age as part of their family's commitment to community service. She and her family saw a tremendous need to help support other patients and their families who were also challenged by cancer. Tragically, Cara passed four months after her diagnosis, yet her wish to help others through K4C lives on with the support of an ever-growing circle of family and friends. To date, the foundation has awarded forty grants totaling $27,286.50 — grants that have engaged hundreds of volunteers in more than a thousand hours of community service. As part of an effort to promote and support youth voluntarism, k4C started a program in the fall of 2014 to encourage kids 18 and under to apply for microgrants between $250 and $1,000 that they can use to complete a service project in their communities. Examples of fundable projects include (but are not limited to) turning a vacant lot into a community garden, rebuilding a school playground, or helping senior citizens get their homes ready for winter. For complete program guidelines, profiles of featured projects, and application instructions, see the Karma for Cara Foundation website.
