The Growing Movement for Public
Power in San Francisco

Now more than ever, the ability to deliver clean, reliable, and affordable energy is critical to San Francisco. San Franciscans can secure our clean energy future and put an end to PG&E's obstruction and extortion tactics by fully switching to local public power through public ownership of the electric grid in San Francisco.

We have never been more united as a city to make it happen. In fact, more than 70% of San Franciscans support switching to public power.

San Francisco is working hard to acquire PG&E's electric grid in the city. We invite you to join the movement and learn more about Our City. Our Power. – our campaign to expand public power to serve all of San Francisco.
